Congress Honors Memory Of War Time President

Alderman Pronounces Eulogy of Life And Achievements.

REVERENT HUSH

Dignitaries Of The State And Political Personages Paid Homage To The Memory Of The Great American.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. (AP)— Congress paused in its round of activity today to render honor to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.
The houses met in joint session.
Dr. Edwin Alderman, Alderman, pronounced an eulogy of his life and achievements.

Dignitaries of the state, political personages of the past and present, close friends of the late chief executive constituted the gathering. A last unseen audience was reenacted when arrangements radio-casting the ceremony were completed through a wide chain of stations.

President Coolidge, cabinet members, supreme court justices, representatives of foreign governments and state members of the Wilson cabinet and high officials of the army and navy joined the members of the house and senate in commemorating the memory of Wilson.

The program and ceremony were simple. The great hall of the capitol was hushed and the machinery of legislation stilled. The leaders planned to adjourn both houses of the senate after the ceremony out of the respect to Mr. Wilson's memory.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Dearing that experience issues a warning NOT to attempt to fix a statesman's final place in history until the generations that knew him, loved him and hated him shall have passed away and a new generation to whom he was NOT familiar figure shall have come upon the stage, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, resident of the University of Virginia, nevertheless said he sought to make clear the character and achievements of Woodrow Wilson.
In an address at the congressional memorial services held in the house of Representatives today.

Loyalty, duty and reverence, one the less urge while memory clear and events are fresh what known of the man upon whom all races and nations turned in moments of peril, he said. The speaker declared that Woodrow Wilson's fame is more interwoven to the fabric of civilization than that of any of his predecessors in office, save Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln.

Dr. Alderman sketched the life of the twenty eighth president from a youth in Presbyterian teacher's home, through college, to the lecture room as a professor, as a college president, chief executive of a State, into the White House and then into the midst of world affairs that made him for all time an international figure.

English Princess To Hunt Big Game

LONDON, (AP)—Princess Marie Louise, King George's cousin, is decided to leave London in February for a month's visit to the old Coast of West Africa, where she will take part in some big game hunting.

Until recent years the Gold Coast was known as the white man's grave, but owing to the progress which has been made in the conquest of malaria and other tropical diseases, the district is now comparatively healthy.

The princess, who will be accompanied by a woman friend, will go to Accra, the seat of government, the guest of the local governor.

City Commissioners Transact Business

The City Commission met in regular session Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the council room at city hall. They passed upon and reading of the bond ordinance, authorizing the issuance and use of $20,000 improvement bonds.
Other meeting of the commission scheduled for Thursday morning.

Methods Of Decorating Xmas Trees

Don't you remember the days when most folk took it for granted that many of the Christmas tree ornaments should be homemade and for several evenings before the 25th of December members of the family, old and young, guests, unattached neighbors and even the servants gathered around and held string popcorn and cranberries, twine greens, make paper cornucopias and fill them with candies and crackers and otherwise prepare the decorations for the Christmas tree? That was when most people had to find most winter evening's diversion within the four walls of their own homes, playing games, popping corn, making taffy, telling stories—and the making of the Christmas tree ornaments and the trimming of the tree gave excuse for several evenings entertainment.

Why not revive the old custom of making ornaments for your Christmas tree—not all of them possibly, but at least some?

Pearls strung in long festoons is something that even the younger members of the family can attend and cranberries, too, are not difficult to string. If you like, the popcorn can be dipped in vegetable dye to make it more colorful.

Crepe Decorations

Paper poinsettias and balls are also decorative. And you can make lovely cornucopias of heavy paper decorated with cutouts of stars and crescents.

Apples, you know are not made unfit for eating just because they have hung on the Christmas tree.
Select good firm ones, either of brilliant red or green, wash them and rub them till they glow, and fasten a cord to the stem, making a two-inch loop by which they may be hung to a firm part of the bough.

You would be surprised to see the number of sorts of garlands and festoons that can be made from paper.
Ordinary wrapping paper, if it is smooth and clean, will answer the purpose. Cut the paper in long half-inch strips, pasting them together until you have many yards in your ribbon strips. Then make what children know as Jacob's ladders of these by placing two of the ribbons together at right angles and then folding back and forth making a sort of spring. Any youngster knows how to do this. The Jacob's ladders can be fastened from one bough to another, or they can be hung from a bough with the hanging end weighted down with a penny loaded in the end. If you can get colored paper to make some of them or if you can color them gay splashes applied by water color so much the better.

Warn Gold Seekers Of Winter Rigors

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, (AP)—
"Stampedes," traveling by automobiles, dog teams and afoot to the Cassiar placer district strike, British Columbia, have been stopped on the international boundary line northeast of Wrangell, Alaska, by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and refused permission to travel to the scene of operations by way of Stikine, Telegraph Creek and the Dease Lake trail until March, according to word received here. The order to head off the winter rush was issued to prevent hardships and privations, without proper provisions at Cassiar.

Business Prospects
Seem Very Bright

That business is good and will continue good is the statement made by W. B. Miller, of Walling-ton, in an interview with a reporter of the News this morning.

"The market for steam coal will be steady but the domestic market will, of course, depend to some extent upon the weather, however, with winter ahead, it too must be fairly steady the next few months," continued Mr. Miller. "We in Wallington have our own market for coal but our business effects the general business condition, especially the store business, of Middlesboro as many of our people come here to trade."

Mr. Miller is manager of the Kentucky Division of the Utilities Coal Company of New York, and is registered at the Cumberland while in the city.

torium.

The public are cordially invited to attend. Plans for the com-

A good attendance is urged. It

DYING FATHER PLEADS FOR SON WHO KILLED HIM

Stabbing Takes Place at Home After Road House Wine Party.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15. (AP)— Pleading that his child be exonerated Bruce Shaw, wealthy Oak Park inventor and manufacturer, died at midnight last from sabre wounds inflicted by his son, George, age 23.

The stabbing is said to have taken place early yesterday morning at the family home after young George, a sister and a girl friend returned from a roadside wine party.

According to the sister, Mrs.
Marie Ayres, George created a disturbance in her room immediately after the three had returned home.
The noise awakened the father who intervened and George becoming resentful grabbed a German sabre which he had brought back with him from the French battle fields, and stabbed his father without warning.

In his statement made to the police before his death and in which he pleaded for exoneration for his son, the father claimed George was crazed by shell shock as a war victim and has been in hospitals much of the time since.

"My boy still is suffering from his war wounds received while in the service of his country" was the dying statement made by the father.

Young George is held by the police and has not been told of his father's death. His girl companion who gave the name of Hazel Brady, is being held as a material witness pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest. According to the police the name given by the girl is an assumed one.

PLAN TO ERECT COMMUNITY TREE

Middlesboro To Have Most-Festive Holiday Season That City Has Ever Known.

Plans for the Community Christmas celebration are going forward in a gratifying way and everything points toward that will probably be the most complete observation of the day Middlesboro has ever known. The big Community Christmas tree has been obtained in Virginia and will be put up next week. The American Legion today is erecting small fir trees in the holes made along Cumberland Avenue for the flags Armistice Day.

Mesdames P. T. Colgan and M. H.
Zauber are the committee in charge of buying garments for the Christmas baskets and they are busy getting these together. The food, candy and toys will come in through gifts from individuals and organizations.

The list of deserving persons is being completed and cross-checked with the Salvation Army. Many very needy cases have been found.
One case reported was of a family where the father is so badly affected with rheumatism that he can scarcely move, the mother, the family's main support, is very ill, and the three small children have no one to care for them.

Another case reported is of a widow with three little children so small that she can not leave them alone to go to work and can find any remunerative work to do at home. And so the list piles up.

They're America's Healthiest!

Introducing America's healthiest boy and girl—Con F. Emens Jr. and Inez Harden. Con is 17 and comes from Prattville, Mich., and Inez, who is 17, came from Marigold, Miss., home. Both were born and bred on farms. Each scored 99.4 per cent at the healthiest children's show at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. And they had a date together the very next day.

Stocking Fund Has A New Subscriber

Investigation is bringing forth the great need of the Empty Stocking Fund. There are many families who will have an empty Christmas if our fund does not go over. One or two very pitiable cases have come to light. The father of one family is crippled and the mother who is the sole support of two small children has taken sick and cannot continue to work—their's a hard lot. In another section of town there is a mother with six children in very destitute circumstances.

These are but a few cases of the actual need—Will you not send in your contribution now.

The fund is swelling.

DR. ABEL NAMED SURGEONS HEAD

He Is The Fourth Louisvillian Who Has Been Elected To Fill Important Position.

Dr. Irvin Abel, elected Thursday to the presidency of the Southern Surgical Association, is the fourth Louisvillian to have headed this noted association of surgeons, the membership of which is limited to 200.

During the thirty-seven years of the organization it has had as its chief executives the late Dr. Lewis S. McMurtry, Dr. A. M. Cartledge and Dr. W. O. Roberts.

Louisville was signally honored at the convention at Charleston, S.C., where Dr. Abel was elected president, this city being selected as the place for the 1925 convention.

Dr. Louis Frank was made chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Among Louisville surgeons who are members of the association are Drs. G. A. Hendon, J. Garland Sherill, Frank T. Fort, Charles Price and J. T. Windell.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR BUSINESS

We Should Be Cheerful, Cement Factory "Looking Up," Says J.
H. Bartlett In Interview.

The prospects for Middlesboro are "cheerful" is the statement made by J. H. Bartlett, President of the American Association Corporation when seen at his office this morning.

"Reporters are as bad as the income tax" stated Mr. Bartlett, however so long as you are here I will say that prospects are cheerful all over the country, Middlesboro's prospects are cheerful and business generally, in my opinion, will improve."

When pressed as to news of the Southern Railroad contract, Mr.
Bartlett smiled but was non-committed except to say: "Well I am hoping the same as all Middles-boro is hoping." However in regard to the cement plant in prospect for across the mountain at Cumberland Gap, Mr. Bartlett was more inclined to talk.

"I have been working on the prospects of a cement plant for 25 years and we haven't yet. It will take a million dollars to establish the plant and I am not saying we have the million, for a million is a lot of money, but I am willing to be quoted as saying that prospects for the establishment of the plant are better now than they ever have been. This is due to so many miles of cement roads being built. It is being desirable to obtain the cement near the place of using."

That a cement plant would mean much for Middlesboro although not located here, is the opinion of Mr.
Bartlett, as it would mean a market for quantities of coal and employment for many people in the mines and in the cement plant.

"This part of the world used to be practically inaccessible but now is improving and is a wonderful country," continued Mr. Bartlett.
"The radio is one of the most wonderful inventions of past years. I bought a splendid machine and last night I listened in on Montreal and

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT advertising is a satisfying service. It serves everybody well.

THAT you can find advertised quality which will meet your every want.

THAT advertisements not only stand for quality, but they assure you of satisfaction.

THAT if you are a manufacturer, it will create a demand for what you have for sale; it will increase turnover, which will in turn increase your profits.

THAT if you are a retailer, it will increase your business, so you can buy in larger quantities and take advantage of volume prices and discounts, and will reduce your overhead and keep your stock moving so you will always have nothing but new and attractive stocks to sell.

THAT if you are a consumer, you can save every day in every way, by buying only from business concerns who advertise. When you buy from them, you not only get the best at right prices, but their ads are a guarantee that their goods are as represented.

EVERY HONEST BUSINESS SHOULD ADVERTISE NOT ONCE IN A WHILE BUT ALL THE WHILE.

EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD READ THE ADS AND BUY ONLY FROM THE CONCERN WHO ADVERTISE. ADVERTISING COLUMNS SHOULD BE THE MEETING PLACE OF ALL BUYERS AND SELLERS.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON—At last the cat is out of the bag. The secret of Coolidge's strength in West Virginia, which he carried at the recent election despite the fact that John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate was West Virginia's "favorite son," is revealed.

The facts were, literally, "smoked out."

It develops that Coolidge has long been a booster for one of West Virginia's pride products—the stogie.

Whether it was their flavor he liked, or the price, which always has been kept comparatively low, isn't disclosed. Probably the price had something to do with it, however, for in writing to a stogie maker in Fairmont, in August, 1919, when he was still governor of Massachusetts enclosing a check for a new consignment of "smokes," the president-to-be wrote:

"I have smoked them for some years and therefore hope the price will not further advance."

Word of this letter and Coolidge's endorsement of the long, "rat-tail" smokes on which no little of West Virginia's prosperity has been based, was circulated in the state's most loyal stogie circles during the campaign.

At the same time Davis' preference for smoothly rolled, gilt-handled Havanas was pointed out.

Result: The stogie smokers swept the state for Coolidge.

MARCELLUS SHIELDS, chief clerk of the House appropriations committee, on whom falls a big share of the detailed work of drafting government supply bills calling for the expenditure of between three and four billion dollars annually, admits that as a boy and youth he couldn't keep accounts straight even when they involved only a few dollars—or cents.

Shields lost his first job, in fact, because he couldn't make change correctly for the kids who came to the little candy store, in Sycamore, Ill., where he clerked. When his weekly deficit became so large that his salary wasn't large enough to cover it, the boss let him out.

THE hot air of the pre-Senate chamber is so objectionable to Senator Royal Copeland of New York, a physician and authority on fresh air and hygiene, that he wants Uncle Sam to spend $450,000 to provide better ventilated quarters for senatorial fulminations.

Copeland's plan would push the Senate chamber right back against the north wall of the Senate wing, where windows could open directly to the outside air.

The historic marble room where senators now receive visitors, and the resplendent gilt and crystal room designed for the president would be lost in the shuffle.

The space now occupied by the imposing marble room would be included in the chamber, with the vice president's dais marking its geographical center.

The president's room would become a senatorial wash room!

WORD reaching Washington from Iowa indicates that Republican hopes in that state are badly scrambled with respect to the contest of Brookhart's election by Dan Steck, Democratic runner-up.

If Steck wins out in the present contest, Brookhart's Republican opponents fear the fighting sharpshooter, who has been officially read out of his party by Senate G. O. P. leaders, will be in position to contest the re-election of Senator Cummins in 1926.

As that will be an "off-year" election, and as Brookhart's supporters never have troubled themselves about his party "regularity," they fear the senior senator from the Hawkeye state would be up against the fight of his life.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST ENIGMA

FATALISM GRIPS RUSSIAN EXILES

There Are 500,000 Russians In France Without A Recognized Country Or Protector.

PARIS—More than 500,000 Russians in France have ceased to be refugees and became exiles, without a recognized country and without a protector, according to M. Maklakov, the Russian Socialist leader, who explains that this condition is one of the principal consequences of the recognition of the Soviet government at Moscow by France. Maklakov added that the action of the French government will make more uncertain the perspective of a political change in Russia. He is confident, however, that unless the Bolsheviks change their policies radically, they will ultimately succumb through a counter-revolution.

"The world is abandoning us by degrees," is how Madame Maklakov put it. "We have no longer any other protector than God. He, in His wisdom, is making our trial a long and weary one, but He will see that justice is done in the end."

These expressions from the Maklakovs give a fair idea of the spirit in which the anti-Bolshevist Russians take the new situation.

There are three proposals for the immediate solution of the Russian refugee problem. The first is repatriation, but only a small minority are supposed to have enough courage to go back to their country. The second is French naturalization; it is thought in the Russian colony that perhaps 100,000 Russians now in France will take advantage of the invitation of the government to become French citizens. As to the great majority who want to remain Russians and are not ready to espouse Bolshevism, it is proposed that the countries where they reside be requested to issue passports to them which all European governments will be asked to respect. Two countries, however, Poland and Italy, have already announced that on account of their understanding with the Soviets they can recognize no passports to Russians other than those issued by the Moscow government.

Conferees have been going on daily between refugees and the French authorities with reference to a solution of the problem, but the Russians remain at the same time skeptical and fatalist. They have little faith in anything that is tried outside of Russia, yet are absolutely confident that the interregnum will sooner or later solve the Russian problem, and make it possible for those who happen to return to their fatherland.

Fokin Regaining His People

TOKIO, (AP)—Tokio has regained her place as the fifth city of the world, according to a police census taken here recently. After the earthquake of September, 1921, Tokio lost a quarter of her population and dropped behind Berlin. The police enumeration shows that the city now has 1,917,000 inhabitants, a gain of 300,000 from figures just after the earthquake, but 260,000 less than before the disaster.

Pioneer Woman Was Judged By Her Work the days of early pioneering in Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 15.—In Kentucky, the officials of the Kentucky Historical Society have found, woman's social standing was regulated more by the quality of the products of her household than by anything else.

"Log rolling, house-warming parties, husking bees, dances and political gatherings were always the occasion for a coming together of all the nearby settlers," H. V. McHesney, vice president, said today.

"Many a courtship was started at a time of this kind. The early housewives worked and clothing was manufactured in the home. Leather was tanned and fashioned into moccasins, herbs and all kinds were cured and the wild and cultivated fruits gathered and cured by the thrifty housewives."

Americans In Paris Avoid Countrymen

Dressmakers specialize in English. They believe the American to be a good spender, and they capitalize the fact that the price of a gown seems low here. They forget to remind the customer that the duty will amount to not less than 70 percent.

As for the big hotels, no one need ever speak French. In the music halls and even many of the legitimate theaters the programs are printed in both French and English.

Beer Goblet Saved The Glass Industry

BRESLAU, (AP)—The manufacture of beer glasses has helped to keep the German glass industry on its feet during the last few months when there has been a let-down in numerous other industries owing to the lack of ready cash for operating expense. The demand has come chiefly from the home trade.

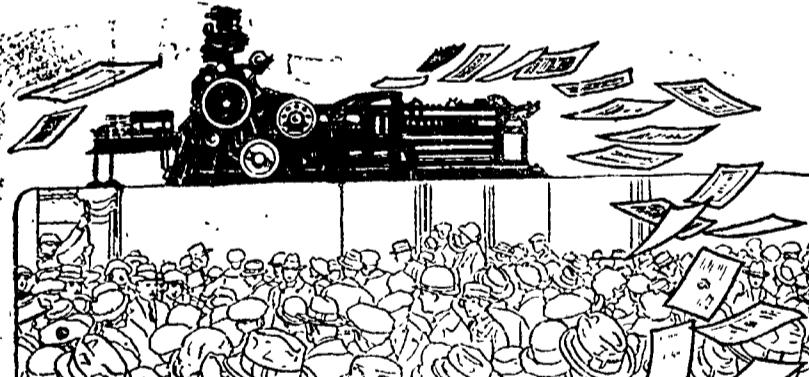

Manufacturers, however, believe that after some of the pending trade treaties with other countries have been agreed to the export business will gradually improve.
